It's not how many branches you have, it's not how much capital you have. Those things don't count for very much anymore. It really comes down to which are the institutions that can attract the people.

Firm Foresees 30% Fewer Credit Unions by 1990

Decline Could Alter Political Clout of Movement's Strong Lobby in Washington

By JEFFREY KUTLER

NEW YORK — Credit unions, which have far outnumbered commercial banks for many years, may not do so much longer as the pace of consolidation accelerates, a study by the Madison Consulting Group has concluded.

By the end of 1990, there will be 12,000 credit unions, 30% fewer than the 17,300 extant in mid-1986 and about half the peak of 23,700 in 1970, predicted Madison, a consulting firm with offices in El Segundo, Calif., and Fort Lee, N.J.

Its scenario would leave credit unions less numerous than the 14,238 federally insured commercial banks that existed on Dec. 31, 1986.

Banks, according to some predictions, could decline to 10,000 or less by 1990. But even if credit unions remain more populous, the two industry segments would be closer to numerical parity than ever before. This could affect the political balance of power in Washington, where the credit union lobby is disproportionately strong relative to the assets its members control.

Credit union executives are not quite as pessimistic about their industry's attrition. The consensus of 40 managers whom Madison interviewed in March 1987 was that the number of credit unions would decline 5% a year through 1990, rather than 8% as envisaged by Madison.

A 5% attrition rate would leave

Alabama Banks Are Ready to Go Interstate

By PETER MANTIUS

ATLANTA — Though Alabama's regional interstate banking law does not take effect until July 1, in many ways the state's largest banks have been playing the interstate game for months.

Their stocks jumped last spring when the law passed, and they have remained at premium levels ever since.

In addition, four of Alabama's five banks with assets of $1 billion or more have agreed to buy out-of-state institutions, and talks with the Southeast's superregional banks have been frequent.

"We've had more than one conversation with more than one regional bank," said Harry B. Brock Jr., chairman of Central Bancshares of the South Inc., a $3.9 billion-asset holding company based in Birmingham.

"Whatever courting there was to do is pretty well in the past," Mr. Brock added. "The price of everybody's stock reflects the ability to expand into other states."

First Alabama Bancshares Inc. of Montgomery, the state's third largest and second most profitable bank, has even gone on scouting missions to superregional banks to check out their management, organization, technology, products, and growth plans.

"We know a great deal more than we did about a handful of regional banks," W.R. Hurley, chairman of First Alabama, told shareholders on April 15. "We are much better prepared to analyze any offer we might receive involving an exchange of our stock for that of a superregional bank . . .

"We will be looking at their profits, policies, and practices as we continue to form our opinions of their operations."

Mr. Hurley said First Alabama is also considering three other strategies — buying Alabama banks, buying banks in contiguous out-of-state markets, or

Interest Rates Drop in NY

NEW YORK — The average interest rate on credit card purchases and cash advances dropped from 18.4% in mid-November to 17% in mid-April, according to a survey by the New York State Bankers Association. Interest rates on home improvement loans fell to 11.7% from 12.3%; on car loans, they fell to 11.9% from 12.2%; and on unsecured personal loans, they fell to 13.55% from 14%. Time and savings deposits also dropped in January, to $119.1 billion from $119.6 billion in December 1986, according to the survey, the Consumer Banking Report.

US Bancorp's Ratings Cut

NEW YORK — The senior debt rating of U.S. Bancorp, Portland, Ore., was lowered to A-plus from AA-minus by Standard & Poor's Corp. Its commercial paper rating was lowered to A1 from A1-plus. About $200 million of debt is affected. The rating agency said the ratings were lowered because of the pending acquisition of Old National Bancorp., whose high loan leverage will cause a decrease in the consolidated ratio of equity plus reserves to loans.

Montreal Bank's Ratings Cut

NEW YORK — Standard & Poor's Corp. lowered the ratings of Bank of Montreal's subordinated debentures — issues of the bank's mortgage units guaranteed by Bank of Montreal and obligations backed by the bank's letters of credit — to AA-minus from AA by Standard & Poor's Corp. The senior long-term debt ratings of Bank of Montreal's unit, Harris BankCorp, Chicago, were also lowered to AA-minus from AA. About $1 billion of debt is affected.

S & L Posts $2 Million Loss

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association of Grand Junction, which last week reported a 1986 loss of $28.6 million, said it had a loss of $1.8 million in the first quarter of 1987. The $126 million-asset thrift had a negative net worth of $39.6 million as of March 31. Valley Federal is operating under a management contract with Bank Western FSB, Denver, as part of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board's management consignment program.

Thrift Forms Investment Unit

DENVER — Capitol Federal Savings & Loan Association of Denver has formed First Capitol Financial Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary that will market a line of consumer investment services. First Capitol Financial Inc. completed negotiations with Great Northern Insured Annuity Corp., a Weyerhaeuser subsidiary, to offer its investment products.

Beneficial to Sell Insurer

WILMINGTON, Del. — Beneficial Corp. signed a definitive agreement for the sale of Northwestern Security Life Insurance Co. to a privately held Chicago-based company for about $40 million. Northwestern Security Life, a credit insurance subsidiary based in Wilkesboro, N.C., is classified as a discontinued operation by Beneficial.

New Hampshire Bank Top Gainer of 2,500 Largest

By L. MICHAEL CACACE

NEW YORK — The total assets of the nation's top 2,500 commercial banks rose 8.7% in 1986, to $2.51 trillion on Dec. 31. A year earlier, the top 2,500 banks posted a 9.5% gain in assets, to $2.31 trillion.

The 2,500 banks had 85.3% of the $2.94 trillion in assets held by all 14,994 banks in the nation at yearend 1986. A year earlier, the top 2,500 banks held 84.6% of all commercial banking assets.

Tables Begin on Page 17

Those are some of the findings of the American Banker's second annual listing of the top 2,500 commercial banks, ranked by assets. The listing was prepared in cooperation with R.L. Polk & Co., Nashville. The banks are ranked in order of their total assets on Dec. 31, 1986. Total assets for Dec. 31, 1985, are also shown, along with 1985 asset rank. (The tables begin on page 17.)

Biggest Gains in Asset Rank

(Dec. 31, 1985 to Dec. 31, 1986)

	1986 Rank	Gain
First NH White Mtn. Bank, N. Conway	1,437	2,399
Bank One Trust Co. NA, Columbus, Ohio	1,500	2,185
Olympic International B & T Co., Boston	1,659	2,102
Silicon Valley Bank, Santa Clara, Calif	1,550	2,064
MBank Westchase NA, Houston	1,368	2,060

The largest gain in rank was posted by the First New Hampshire-White Mountain Bank, North Conroy. It moved up 2,399 places to 1,437th as its assets soared more than 163% to $183 million on Dec. 31, 1986. Its assets were $69.5 million on that date a year earlier.

In 1985, the largest gain in asset rank was posted by another New Hampshire-based bank, Indian Head National Bank, Keene. In 1986, Indian Head's assets rose by almost 20% to $144.2 million, and it moved up 246 places to rank 1,816th.

Other Survey Findings

Texas Commerce Bank-Hillcrest, Dallas, ranked 2,500th at yearend 1986, with $110.2 million in assets. It ranked 2,468th in assets on Dec. 31, 1985, with a total of $104.5 million.

In 1985, American Bank, Norco, La., was the 2,500th largest bank, with assets of $103.7 million. Its assets fell by almost 12% to $91.4 million at yearend 1986 to rank 3,038th.

There were 33 banks with assets over $10 billion in 1986, compared with 27 in 1985 and 24 in 1984. Eighty-four banks had assets of $5 billion or more, versus 74 in 1985 and 67 in 1984. ■

David Ritz
President
Ritz Camera

"We're saving over 7 days of float with EDC from McDonnell Douglas."

Ritz Camera, a leading retailer in photographic services and equipment, was one of the first national merchants to see the benefits of Electronic Draft Capture.

"With 190 locations across the country, we were looking for a way to drastically reduce the float on our credit card sales," says David Ritz, President of Ritz Camera. "Electronic Draft Capture was the answer. Together with our bank, we chose McDonnell Douglas Payment Systems Company because their EDC system was comprehensive and easy to use."

"We started realizing the benefits almost immediately. Not only was our float time reduced by over 7 days, but administrative costs were significantly reduced."

"At Ritz Camera, we take pride in the quality of service we offer our customers and we expect the same level of service from people we deal with. McDonnell Douglas has always met our standards and that is why we have been a customer from 1983 through today."

Today major merchants, like David Ritz, understand and demand the benefits of Electronic Draft Capture. With McDonnell Douglas Electronic Draft Capture, you can offer your merchants the most flexible and fully supported EDC system available.

To find out how you can strengthen and increase your merchant program with EDC, call John Maxey collect at 415/794-2634.

Big Banks Trimmed Municipal Bond Portfolios in '86

By MATTHEW KREPS
The Bond Buyer

NEW YORK — The nation's 1,000 largest banks reduced their holdings of municipal bonds by 13% in 1986, partly in anticipation of tax reform.

In book value, the banks held a total of $92.14 billion of bonds on Dec. 31, down 13% from the $105.89 billion they held at the end of 1985. Almost all of the decline came in the first six months of the year, before the Tax Reform Act of 1986's elimination of many tax advantages for holding tax-exempts.

The market value of the bank portfolios, boosted by falling interest rates, did not fall as far. In market value, the banks held $96.58 billion of bonds at the end of 1986, down 7.1% from the $103.99 billion of the year before. The market value dropped 8.3% in the first half of the year, but rose 1.3% in the second half.

Book value is the amount that the bank paid for the bonds; market value is what the bonds are worth when they are marked to market.

In 1985, the nation's top 1,000 banks increased the book value of their bond portfolios by 45%, and the market value jumped 56%.

The figures are based on the consolidated reports of conditions that the banks file with federal regulators every six months, under the category of "securities issued by states and political subdivisions in the United States." The list of banks excludes credit-card and other "specialty" banks that did not report any bond holdings.

More than three-quarters of the banks — 774 — reduced their bond holdings in 1986, by an average of $24.3 million. Two hundred and five banks added to their holdings, by an average of $24.5 million. Twenty-one banks either reported no change in bond holdings or no holdings at all.

Thirty-nine banks trimmed more than $100 million of bond holdings from their portfolios, while only seven added more than $100 million.

The nation's 100 largest banks reduced their holdings, but by a smaller margin than the larger group of 1,000 banks did. The top 100's portfolios had a combined book value of $49.28 billion at the end of 1986, down 10.9% from the $55.3 billion of the year before, and their market value fell only 4.5%, to $51.73 billion from $54.16 billion.

Seventy-nine of the 100 largest banks reduced their bond holdings, by an average of $115.2 million, while 21 banks added to their holdings, by an average of $146.6 million. Thirty-one banks reduced their bond holdings by more than $100 million, while six added more than $100 million.

Biggest Portfolios

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., the nation's fourth-largest bank, continued to hold by far the largest portfolio of municipal bonds — $4.35 billion at the end of 1986, up $452 million, or 11.6%, from the end of 1985.

In a distant second place was Chase Manhattan Bank, which held $1.97 billion of bonds at yearend. Chase Manhattan, which also was second at the end of 1985, with $2.19 billion, reduced its holdings 10% last year.

Citibank jumped to third place with the year's largest increase in bond holdings as it added $1.15 billion, from the previous year's $801 million to $1.95 billion at the end of 1986 — a 143% rise. Citibank had cut its holdings back $26 million, or 3%, in the first half, but then gobbled up $1.18 billion in the second half, a 151% increase. Officials at the bank would not comment on the portfolio.

Chemical Bank remained in fourth place for the year as it increased its portfolio $72 million, or 4.4%, to $1.67 billion.

Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. fell to fifth place from third the year before as its holdings declined $89 million, or 5.1%, to $1.66 billion.

Following Citibank and Morgan Guaranty with the largest increases in bond holdings in 1986 were Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., up $393 million, or 81%; Mellon Bank, up $270 million, or 34%; and First Union National Bank, up $161 million, or 19%. First Interstate Bank of Oregon in Portland added $126 million, or 22%, while Colonial National Bank USA, a limited-service bank in Wilmington, Del., went from zero to $107 million.

Profitable BanksWere Buyers

Banks often buy municipal bonds when they or their holding companies are profitable, to increase their after-tax income as much as possible — and most of the banks that added more than $100 million of bonds had highly profitable years in 1986.

Citibank's parent company, Citicorp, earned $1.06 billion of net income, the largest earnings of any U.S. bank holding company for the year. In second place was J.P. Morgan & Co., with $873 million. Boston Safe Deposit posted a 123% jump in net income, to $118 million — the sixth-largest percentage gain last year. First Union Bancorp and First Interstate Bancorp were among the top 10 banks in net income, and Mellon Bank Corp. was 18th on the list. And TSO Financial Corp., which owns Colonial National, doubled its earnings.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 eliminated banks' 80% income tax deduction for the costs of carrying municipal

The Bond Buyer Municipal Bond Index was designed by the Chicago Board of Trade to serve as the basis for trading Long-Term Municipal Bond futures contracts when approved by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. The Index represents an average of the figures obtained when the price of each of 40 select term bonds is divided by a figure derived from the amount at which the bond would be priced to yield 8%. In all computations, the maturity of a bond is represented by its first call at par. The Index is computed daily and is quoted in points and 32nds.

International Forum Set To Cover EFT/POS Issues

NEW YORK — What's being billed as the first international electronic funds transfer/point of sale forum is scheduled to take place June 22 through June 24 in Vienna, Austria.

Sponsored by Lafferty Conferences Ltd., the forum will address policy issues such as who should control point of sale systems — banks, retailers, or third parties — and how costs will be divided. The benefits of both independent and shared networks, as well as the role of legislators, will also be discussed.

Scheduled speakers include Roger Peirce, general manager of delivery systems for Visa International, and Meredith Fernstrom, an American Express senior vice president.

bonds. This spurred at least one bank, Morgan Guaranty, to substantially increase its tax-exempt portfolio before the law took effect.

In its annual report for 1986, J.P. Morgan & Co., Morgan Guaranty's parent company, noted, "In anticipation of the signing of this new legislation into law, holdings of securities of states and political subdivisions were substantially increased in order to ensure a continued flow of tax-benefited interest income until these securities mature." Officials at Morgan Guaranty would not elaborate further.

Though most of First Union Bancorp's portfolio growth has been in U.S. agency securities, its municipal holdings have jumped 165% in two years, from $673 million in 1984 to $1.78 billion in 1986.

In its 1986 annual report, the firm enumerated several reasons it has been increasing its investment portfolio for five years: "First, we anticipated slow loan growth and wanted to maintain our earnings momentum. Second, we didn't feel interest rates were going to turn up sharply. Third, we thought the chances were good that we would acquire banks that kept a higher volume of loans than investments on their books."

At the other end of the spectrum, Republic National Bank had the year's largest decline in holdings. The bank sold $970 million of the $1.44 billion of bonds it held at the end of 1985, to end last year holding only $474 million of the securities.

Officials at Republic National said the massive sell-off was the tail end of a short-term investment strategy that began in 1985. The bank bought a lot of short-term municipals in December 1985, when the House proposed tough restrictions on tax-exempt financing with an effective date of Jan. 1, 1986, and short-term rates soared as high as 9% in reaction. Almost all of these bonds were sold off in early 1986, the officials said. The trading profits from that well-timed move probably contributed to Republic New York Corp.'s excellent earnings of $148 million for the year.

Bank of America had the second-largest decline in bond portfolios for the year, selling off $588 million, or 63%, to $339 million. The bank held more than $1 billion of municipals at the end of 1984. In this case, financial problems were the reason the bank cut back its holdings; the parent company, BankAmerica Corp., lost $337 million in 1985 and $518 million in 1986.

Another financially troubled bank, Allied Bank of Texas in Houston, divested more than 90% of its municipal portfolio. Allied Bank trimmed $381 million from its holdings, finishing the year with $38 million.

Israel Discount Bank of New York followed in Republic National Bank's footsteps in reducing its portfolio by $538 million, to end up with just $21 million at the end of 1986. The bank had added $173 million to its portfolio in 1985. A bank official said the portfolio moves were a short-term investment strategy similar to Republic National's.

Norwest Bank Minneapolis sold $354 million of municipal bonds from its portfolio, the fifth-largest dollar-amount reduction for the year. Meanwhile, its holding company, Norwest Corp., said in its annual report for 1986 that its banks more than doubled their combined portfolio of U.S. Treasury and agency debt and other taxable securities.

The shift in Norwest's fixed-income assets apparently had its roots in the tax reform law. According to the corporation's annual report, "the effects of the [Tax Reform Act's] repeal of the investment tax credit and new restrictions placed on tax-exempt income from loans and securities will likely be more than offset by the reduction in the maximum corporate income tax rate from 46% to 40% in 1987 and 34% thereafter, and as proceeds of tax-exempt assets are reinvested into higher yielding taxable loans and investments."

Amalgamated Bank of New York sold off all of the $379 million of bonds it held at the end of 1985 and reported no holdings at the end of 1986. It was one of 13 banks to sell off their entire portfolios last year, although none of the other banks began the year with more than $45 million.

Seventeen other banks sold between 90% and 99% of their bonds last year, with Israel Discount Bank showing the largest dollar decline. Twelve of the banks in this group had less than $60 million of bonds at the end of 1985.

New York's banks had by far the largest combined portfolio for any state, with 63 banks holding $19.75 billion, or 21.4% of the 1,000 banks' combined total. New York was followed by Florida, 58 banks with $6.08 billion; Pennsylvania, 59 banks with $5.66 billion; New Jersey, 47 banks with $4.4 billion; and Ohio, 43 banks with $4.28 billion. ■
